🌟 What another fantastic week we've had in school! 🌟

😊 World Smile Day
Today, we celebrated World Smile Day! We've been talking about how small acts of kindness can brighten someone's whole day. Ask your child what they are going to do to make someone smile today!

🌿 Learning About Sukkot
In today's assembly, we learnt about Sukkot, a special autumn festival celebrated by many Jewish people. 🛖✨
Learning about traditions like Sukkot reminds us that our world is full of rich cultures, beliefs, and ways of life. When we take the time to understand different religions and traditions, we build kindness, curiosity, and respect. Even if we don't all celebrate the same things, we can all appreciate and celebrate each other. ❤️

Next week, we are super excited to be taking part in a GUINNESS WORLD RECORDS™ attempt with the National Literacy Trust and the British Council on Thursday 8th October! As part of the Take 10 to Read campaign, our pupils will join thousands of readers online across 12 hours for engaging reading and illustrator sessions with world-renowned authors, reminding us all to take 10 minutes to dive into a great book.

We also smiled broadly today as our school was awarded a special certificate celebrating the 58 children who completed the Summer Reading Challenge over the holidays—a huge well done to all of our star readers! 📚⭐

UNCRC Rights Respecting Schools
Article 14 (Freedom of thought, belief and religion): Every child has the right to think and believe what they choose, and to practise their religion.
Article 29 (Goals of education): Education must develop every child's personality, talents and abilities to the full, encouraging respect for human rights, different cultures, and the environment.

Have a wonderful, restful weekend everyone! 🍂
